DMC Devil May Cry Complete Edition-PROPHETDmC Devil May Cry .Q: Javascript / MYSQL mixup In my Joomla module, I have a query that returns an array of associative arrays. The second array in these associative arrays is a MYSQL object id. I want to compare the id to the current rows id, if there is a match, then it should print "ok".
SELECT comp_id, name, price, url FROM #__computers WHERE oid=1
The following code works great so far...
if(!empty($result)) { foreach($result as $obj1) { foreach($obj1['computername'] as $obj2) { if($obj1['computername'] == 'exmaple') { echo 'ok'; } } } }
However, if I add the following to the middle, then all the responses (ok, nope) get printed.
foreach($result as $obj1) { echo $obj1['computername']['name']; if($obj1['computername'] == 'exmaple') { echo 'ok'; } }
If I change the if statement so the comparison is == 0, it doesn't matter if I have the echo $obj1['computername']['name'] or not, it always prints "ok".
What am I doing wrong? A: It looks like you're

Later, Lu, himself was quoted in the English-language media as saying Chinese President Xi Jinping sees "no contradiction" between how China deals with Canada and its policies of using human rights and the rule of law to decide who to allow into the country. Lu, who has spent three weeks in Canada at the invitation of his counterpart, Chrystia Freeland, did not clarify what he meant by that tweet and comments by the former ambassador and other Beijing officials, only saying: "I will not further discuss them." It's the latest in a series of hostile statements made in recent months and weeks, as Chinese officials warn the country will be forced to take countermeasures if Trudeau softens his stance in the face of pressure from the United States. And indeed, amid the spat with Canada, China has been softening its stance on South Korea and the U.S., one of its major trading partners. "It is right for China to retaliate," wrote a foreign ministry official in an article published this week. "I don't believe that he (Trump) has the intention to change the global order. But I don't believe that he is strong and stable enough to continue on this path." Asked about China's recent actions 50b96ab0b6

Former House Speaker Newt Gingrich called for a "middle ground approach" to the president's impeachment. Joe Scarborough responded by suggesting that Trump has no business being president. The recurring drumbeat grew noticeably louder Saturday morning, as news reports broke that the White House is pushing back against mounting criticism that Trump had "pressured Ukraine to investigate his political rivals" and might have also been obstructing Congress in its own probe of the matter. By the time Trump took the podium Saturday afternoon for a traditional photo op with Norwegian Prime Minister Erna Solberg, every cable news channel was focused on the gaggle of reporters waiting outside the White House to ask him about the impeachment inquiry. But his press secretary said he would not address the impeachment inquiry or, for that matter, discuss any wrongdoing by the president. "The president has been very clear: he's done nothing wrong," Sarah Huckabee Sanders told reporters. On Twitter, Trump urged his supporters to "watch the total Witch Hunt by the Democrats." He then repeated
